Path of the Black Blood

TIER: 2

The Black Blood walks the oldest bargain of the End-Cycle: pay in your own life and entropy repays it tenfold. Their veins run with congealed Remnant-essence that they spend freely, wounding themselves to deepen the harvest and turning every blow they suffer into slow, crawling recovery. They are the Revenants who simply refuse to fall, buoyed by a tide of blood - their own and their enemies' - that never quite runs dry.

FEATURES

NAME:
Blood Price
DESCRIPTION:
Once on each of your turns when you cast a spell or use a power, you may take necrotic damage equal to your Revenant level (this damage cannot be reduced or prevented) to add your Intelligence modifier to that ability's damage and mark each creature it hits for the reaping.
LEVEL: 2

NAME:
Crimson Leech
DESCRIPTION:
Once per turn, when you deal necrotic damage to a creature marked for the reaping, you regain hit points equal to 1 + the number of Remnants you currently hold.

Whenever you take damage, you gain healing over time: at the start of each of your next two turns you regain hit points equal to half the damage taken, to a maximum of your Revenant level per turn.
LEVEL: 6

NAME:

DESCRIPTION:
Whenever healing would raise you above your hit point maximum, the excess becomes temporary hit points

(up to your Intelligence modifier + your Revenant level) and you may immediately bank 1 Remnant. LEVEL: 10	ABILITIES
NAME: Crimson Surge DESCRIPTION: While you are below half your hit point maximum, your Crimson Leech healing doubles and your Blood Price costs no hit points. The nearer you stand to death, the more death sustains you. LEVEL: 14

Path of the Void Eater

TIER: 2

The Void Eater answers Marthos's hunger without restraint: entropy is not a tool but an appetite. Where other Revenants harvest the dying, the Void Eater hastens the dying, treating a wounded foe as a feast half-served. Their necrosis pours through the flimsy wards of the living, and every kill only sharpens the next. The Ascendant Bureau fields them when a gate must be emptied rather than held - the longer the fight lasts, the less of the enemy remains.

FEATURES

NAME:
Unresisted Decay

DESCRIPTION:
Your necrotic damage ignores resistance, and a creature already below half its hit points has vulnerability to your necrotic damage.

LEVEL: 2

NAME:
Feast of the Fallen

DESCRIPTION:
Once per turn, when a creature marked for the reaping drops to 0 hit points, you reclaim 2 Remnants instead of 1, and your next necrotic spell or power this turn deals additional necrotic damage equal to your Intelligence modifier.

LEVEL: 2

NAME:
Chain of Endings

DESCRIPTION:
When you reduce a creature to 0 hit points with necrotic damage, entropy leaps to the nearest creature within 15 feet, dealing necrotic damage equal to your Revenant level and marking it for the reaping. If this reduces that creature to 0, the chain continues.

As a bonus action, spend 2 Remnants to pass sentence on a creature marked for the reaping that is below one-quarter of its hit points: it must succeed on a

Vitality save or drop to 0 hit points, taking 4d10 + your Intelligence modifier necrotic damage on a success instead. LEVEL: 10	ABILITIES
NAME: Mass Annihilation DESCRIPTION: Whenever you reduce a creature to 0 hit points with a necrotic spell or score a critical hit with one, every other creature marked for the reaping within 30 feet takes necrotic damage equal to half your Revenant level. Marks that survive are renewed. LEVEL: 14
NAME: Devour the Remnant DESCRIPTION: Action: detonate a corpse or a creature marked for the reaping within 60 feet. Each creature in a 15-foot radius takes 4d8 + your Intelligence modifier necrotic damage (Vitality save for half) and is marked for the reaping; you reclaim 1 Remnant for each creature reduced to 0. Once per long rest.
